- Lead counsel to the Official Committee of Retirees in the Dana Bankruptcy. The case was settled on the morning trial was to begin for approximately $93 million. The initial offer made by the debtor's counsel was zero.
- Represented the senior, debtor in possession lender in the chapter 11 liquidation of a large, "value-added" cattle breeding and selling operation.

Notable Experience:

- Counseled a global labeling manufacturer on the reorganization of its U.S. operation, drafted and negotiated the separation agreements of several key U.S. executives, and assisted in the development of compensation plans and policies for the revamped U.S. organization.
- Counseled the Board of Directors of a natural food processing company on the termination of its CEO, supervised a forensic accounting investigation, helped litigate claims involving the CEO's termination to a favorable settlement that included an appraisal of the CEO's long-term incentive compensation, and assisted the company in transitioning to a new management team.
- Successfully litigated three federal lawsuits against a large financial institution that involved claims of discrimination based on pregnancy and national origin and the wrongful denial of severance benefits. After defeating motions to compel and resolving extensive e-discovery issues, the cases settled on favorable terms for the client.

Litigation and Dispute Resolution >>

Pedersen's lawyers advocate diligently and aggressively to protect our clients' resources, as well as business and personal interests, in arbitration and mediation proceedings, and in state and federal courts. Our practice encompasses the full range of business and commercial litigation, corporate and partnership dispute resolution, environmental litigation, family law, municipal law and land use, and securities litigation.

- Obtained a binding and non-appealable judgment on behalf of the beneficial owner of an ethnic grocery store who had disputes with company trustees that terminated the trustee and dismissed his entire claim for more than $1 million in fees.

Real Estate >>

Pedersen provides real estate legal services to local and national corporate, privately held, institutional, municipal, and manufacturing clients.

We are experienced in the full spectrum of real estate-related issues, ranging from the acquisition, financing, disposition, and development of real property to income tax planning and structuring of transactions, and from office, retail and industrial leasing to real estate-related dispute resolution and litigation.

Notable Experience:

- Completed a major transaction and refinancings involving a redevelopment of a 1,200,000 square foot downtown Chicago office building into a vertically subdivided, five-star luxury hotel and Class A office and retail space. This involved numerous aspects including a joint venture, agreements with the hotel operator, new equity, first and junior mortgages, a mezzanine loan, a façade preservation easement, historic tax credits, a buy-out of a partner, and a complicated recapitalization.
- Negotiated all aspects of the $225 million purchase of the IDS Tower – the tallest building in Minneapolis – completing the complex transaction in six weeks.
- Represented an S&P traded, international higher education organization regarding the lease of its 220,000 square foot headquarters as well as the lease of classroom and administrative space in Class A office buildings in major metropolitan areas throughout the United States.

Wealth Preservation >>

Our Wealth Preservation Practice Group lawyers are typically retained by high net worth individuals, entrepreneurs, and business owners, who benefit from focused counsel on the full spectrum of wealth management issues.

We provide sophisticated gift strategies, estate and trust administration services, and tax planning and tax compliance services, including the preparation of federal and state income tax returns.

Notable Experience:

- Represented the major shareholders of a $90 million Chicago area company in the recapitalization of its stock into voting and non-voting stock, which allowed senior generation shareholders to gift or devise voting shares to dynasty trusts and sell nonvoting shares to intentionally defective grantor trusts. These transactions locked in valuation discounts, froze the senior generation shareholder's interests, maintained voting parity between family groups on death, and provided for flexible ownership succession.
- Successfully represented an appellant co-executor's challenge of an Illinois Court of Appeals decision affirming a trial court's decision stating that a religious restriction trust provision was unenforceable. In a hotly contested trusts and estates matter, the Illinois Supreme Court unanimously reversed the ruling, affirming that the public policy of Illinois valued freedom of testation.
